

The Indie Beauty Network and Smedley Insurance Group, Inc. Join Forces to Help Small Businesses Obtain Affordable Health Insurance

The Indie Beauty Network and Smedley Insurance Group, Inc. are pleased to announce a joint program to help small businesses nationwide procure affordable health insurance.

February 11, 2009 – Avondale, AZ, Charlotte, NC – Smedley Insurance Group, Inc. (SIG) a national insurance agency, has joined forces with The Indie Beauty Network (IBN), a trade organization representing small businesses, to offer SIG's services to IBN's Premium Professional Members.

"One of the chief requests I receive from the small businesses I work with is for help finding affordable health insurance. Having a national broker like SIG that can sift through and find the least expensive insurance options with the best possible coverage is a huge asset to my members," said Donna Maria Coles Johnson, founder and president of IBN.

"Small business owners need affordable coverage that is narrowly tailored to their specific needs, and which includes options and benefits that are unique to very small business," said Jesse Smedley. "Most of all, the price has to fit."

"Through an arrangement with another insurance broker, IBN has been helping its members procure products liability and business insurance since 2006," said Johnson. "Helping them with health insurance is the next logical step to facilitating a well rounded suite of services that makes it easy for them to fill all of their insurance needs easily in one place," she said.

SIG generates thousands of health insurance quotes every month for over 150 insurance companies in all 50 states. SIG is licensed to do business in all 50 states and specializes in dealing with very small businesses and the real men and women who manage them. In particular, like IBN, SIG serves family-owned businesses.

Not only has SIG taken all the guess work out of buying small business health insurance, but they have simplified the process into a seamless, efficient one that saves IBN members time and money. "Often times, SIG will be able to help IBN members lower existing health insurance premiums by placing them into a better plan, all with little to no effort on members' part," said Smedley.
